

Historic, Archive Document

Do not assume content reflects current scientific knowledge, policies, or practices.

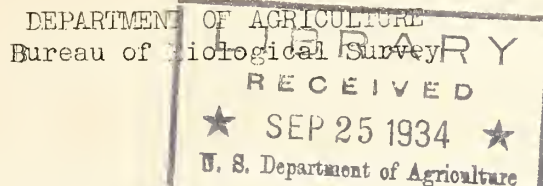

Di.-1781

January 12, 1932.

Positions in the Bureau of Biological Survey
Department of Agriculture
for which
Civil Service examinations are held from time to time.

Title of positions.	Entrance Salary.
U. S. Reservation Protector (Class A).....	$2,300
" " " " (" B).....	2,000
" " " " (" C).....	1,620
United States Game Protector.....	2,300
Junior Leader (Predatory Animal Control).....	1,620
Assistant Leader (Predatory Animal Control).....	2,000
Senior Biological Aid (Injurious Mammals).....	2,000
Junior Biologist (Injurious Mammals).....	2,000
Junior Biologist (Food Habits Research).....	2,000
Assistant Biologist (Food Habits Research).....	2,600
Junior Biologist (General).....	2,000
Assistant Biologist (General).....	2,600
Associate Biologist (General).....	3,200
Junior Biologist (Fur Resources).....	2,000
Junior Forester (Refuge Land Acquisition).....	2,000

Practically all Government positions of a permanent nature are filled from civil service registers which are established as a result of examinations held from time to time by the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. Examinations are not held at stated intervals, but only as eligibles are required on civil service registers from which to make selection for filling vacancies or new positions as they arise. Announcements of these examinations are widely circulated by the Civil Service Commission through publication in newspapers, by posting notices in post offices, and through such other means of publicity as are available.

Bi.-1181
Revised Sept. 1934

September 13, 1934.

Positions for which ~~Civil Service~~ examinations are held from time to time to provide eligibles for appointment in the Bureau of Biological Survey.

Title of Position.	Entrance Salary.
U. S. Game Management Agent (Refuges) Class A	$2,300
U. S. Game Management Agent (Refuges) Class B	2,000
U. S. Game Management Agent (Refuges) Class C	1,620
U. S. Game Management Agent (Enforcement)	2,300
Deputy U. S. Game Management Agent (Enforcement)	1,440
Assistant Leader (Predatory Animal Control)	2,000
Senior Biological Aide (Injurious Mammals)	2,000
Junior Biologist (Injurious Mammals)	2,000
Junior Biologist (Food Habits Research)	2,000
Assistant Biologist (Food Habits Research)	2,600
Junior Biologist (General)	2,000
Assistant Biologist (General)	2,600
Associate Biologist (General)	3,200
Junior Biologist (Fur Resources)	2,000
Junior Forester (Refuge Land Acquisition)	2,000

Positions for which examinations are held by other branches of the service and from which appointments are made to fill positions in the Bureau of Biological Survey.

Title of Positions.	Entrance Salary.
Assistant to Technician	$1,620
Engineering Aide	1,800
Engineering Draftsman	1,800
Transitman	1,800
Junior Cadastral Engineer	2,000
Junior Civil Engineer	2,000
Junior Animal Husbandman	2,000
Assistant Animal Husbandman	2,600
Assistant Cadastral Engineer	2,600
Assistant Civil Engineer	2,600
Associate Animal Husbandman	3,200
Associate Hydraulic Engineer	3,200

Practically all Government positions of a permanent nature are filled from civil service registers which are established as a result of examinations held from time to time by the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C. Examinations are not held at stated intervals, but only as new eligible lists are required from which to make selection for filling vacancies or new positions. Announcements of these examinations are widely circulated by the United States Civil Service Commission through publication in newspapers, by posting notices in Post Offices, and through such other means of publicity as are available. When notices appear, application blanks can be secured direct from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C., or from field headquarters as given on the announcement.

(over)

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
Bureau of Biological Survey

Bi.-1181

Revised Sept. 1935

September 4, 1935

U. S. Department of Agriculture

Listed below are positions for which Civil Service examinations are held from time to time to provide eligibles for appointment to regular positions in the Bureau of Biological Survey:

Title of Position	Entrance Salary
Junior Refuge Manager.....	$1,620
Assistant " "	2,300
Associate " "	3,200
Refuge Superintendent.....	3,800
U. S. Game Management Agent (Enforcement).....	2,300
Deputy U. S. Game Management Agent (Enforcement)	1,440
Assistant Leader (Predatory Animal Control)	2,000
Senior Biological Aide (Injurious Mammals)	2,000
Junior Biologist (Injurious Mammals)	2,000
Junior Biologist (Wildlife Research)	2,000
Assistant Biologist (Wildlife Research)	2,600
Associate Biologist (Wildlife Research)	3,200
Biologist (Wildlife Research)	3,800

Listed below are positions for which examinations are held by other branches of the service and from which appointments are made occasionally to fill positions in the Bureau of Biological Survey:

Title of Position	Entrance Salary
Assistant to Technician.....	$1,620
Engineering Aide	1,800
Engineering Draftsman	1,800
Transitman	1,800
Junior Forester (Refuge Land Acquisition).....	2,000
Junior Cadastral Engineer	2,000
Junior Civil Engineer	2,000
Junior Animal Husbandman.....	2,000
Assistant Animal Husbandman.....	2,600
Assistant Cadastral Engineer	2,600
Assistant Civil Engineer	2,600
Associate Animal Husbandman.....	3,200

Practically all positions in the Bureau of a permanent nature are filled from civil service registers which are established as a result of examinations held from time to time by the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. Examinations are not held at stated intervals, but only as new eligible lists are required from which to make selection for filling vacancies or new positions. Announcements of these examinations are widely circulated by the United States Civil Service Commission through publication in newspapers, by posting notices in Post Offices, and through such other means of publicity as are available. When notices appear, application blanks can be secured direct from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or from field headquarters as given on the announcement.

